

Elbie Jay and Munsters Battle

Howdy there, folks. How y'all? Time for another tee-vee visit with the rootin'-tootin' Jay Family—starring ol' Elbie Jay, most peace-lovin' man in the whole State of Texas. And he'll lick any fella who says he ain't.

As we join up with ol' Elbie tonight, he's a-settin' in the parlor of his big white house, engaged in his favorite hobby, autographin' his photographs. His pretty wife, Birdie Bird, is watchin' tee-vee and their two cute tads, Myna Bird and Bye-bye Birdie, are over in the corner, doin' the Watusi.

Birdie Bird: Children! Come quick and see what's on tee-vee. It's a rare educational opportunity and I don't want you to miss it.

Myna Bird (frugging over dispiritedly): Is Daddy on again?

Birdie Bird: No, it's a real surprise. He isn't.

Elbie (with annoyance): What? Oh, you got the wrong station there, Birdie Bird. On the other one is a repeat of my afternoon speech explaining my morning speech explaining my clear, forthright foreign policy. Switch it over, Birdie Bird, I can't wait to hear my explanation. And I know the kiddies can't either.

Bye-bye Birdie (swimming over dispiritedly): Yeah, yeah, yeah.

Elbie (beaming at the television set): Now watch your old daddy. Here's where I explain how I'm for peace, brotherly love, and quote 13 chapters of The Bible.

Birdie Bird: You're getting awfully good at that part, dear.

Elbie: My, aren't I though? Now here's where I explain why I had to send 30,000 Marines into that poor benighted country to spread peace, brotherly love, and democracy.

Myna Bird: Which poor, benighted country's that, Daddy?

Elbie: I can't rightly recall at the minute. But I'm sure I'll mention it in passing. I most often do.

Announcer: We interrupt this program to bring you a special bulletin. The Man from U.N.C.L.E., which we are watching in the studio, is trapped by a giant iguana in a deserted Doggie Diner.

Elbie: What? What? Oh, now we're back to me. Now watch your Daddy. Here's where I explain why I...

Announcer: Due to a flood of phone calls, the rest of this program will not be seen at this time. We switch you now to The Man from U.N.C.L.E.!

Myna Bird and Bye-bye Birdie (rushing to the set): Hot-ziggety! Whoo-pee! At last!

Elbie (glowering): Birdie Bird, why'n't you take those kiddies out and show them how to plant flowers on the freeway? (puzzled) But how come they cut me off like that?

Birdie Bird (consolingly): It's because you aren't on regular, Elbie. Just odd hours, night and day.

Elbie: You're right, Birdie Bird. I'm going to get me a regular peace program—7 to 9 nightly, all three networks. And I even got a title: "My Day and Why I Did It."

Will Elbie Explain Things? Will He Ever Stop? Be sure to tune in to our next episode, folks. And meantime, as you mosey on down the trial of life, remember what Elbie's ol' Granddaddy always used to say: "Talk is cheap. And there's a lot of other good things to be said for it, too."

'Bowl Down Cancer' Makes Local Strike

Contributions to the American Cancer Society during the fourth annual Bowl Down Cancer Week in April totaled $5,529.34 from 19 lanes in the Centinela Valley-South Bay district. Participating were 10,991 bowlers. Local bowlers were an important part of the country-wide total of $34,551.53 contributed by 68,400 enthusiastic league bowlers. Entire proceeds of Bowl Down Cancer Week support the year around programs of research, education and service to cancer patients carried out by the American Cancer Society. Bowl Down Cancer Week was under the sponsorship of the American Cancer Society in cooperation with American Machine and Foundry, Grunswick Corporation, the Bowling Proprietors Association of Southern California, the Los Angeles Bowling Association, and the San Fernando Valley Women's Bowling Association.

COUNT MARCO SAYS

A Slack View of Campus Attire

I heard about rumbles of dissension among female students at the City College of San Francisco. They are using in their demands that dirty six-letter word "slacks!" It seems a group of disheartened, disenfranchised, dispossessed-of-has-beens have decided that as long as they're going down the sinkhole of lost femininity they may as well go all the way. In the backwash of their six-point program is a demand, mind you, that they be permitted to wear trousers, not only on the campus but in the classrooms as well. The females of the ROC (Reform on Campus) movement appear to be much older students, some of them refugees from unsuccessful marriages.

'Y' Lessons in Diving Planned

The Torrance Family YMCA will begin a third series of scuba diving courses for men and women 17 and older, Joe Wilcox, executive secretary, has announced. The first orientation session will be held at the YMCA, 2080 Washington Ave., Thursday evening at 7:30. The 30-hour course will be taught by Donald Morrison, with classes limited to 10 men and women. Morrison holds instructor's certificates from Los Angeles County, the U. S. Navy, and the YMCA. Further information about the scuba diving lessons may be obtained by calling the YMCA at FA 8-1272.

School Election Data Compiled by Educator

School districts experience a variety of legal problems in the administration of school district elections, according to a research project just completed by Dr. Walter W. Buettgenbach at the University of Southern California. Dr. Buettgenbach, who is on sabbatical leave from his post as assistant principal at North High School from 1962-64, completed the research while earning the degree of doctor of education. "Many errors, irregularities, and omissions occur in the conduct of elections, and although litigation is infrequent, time waste, negative public relations, and falling support for the schools are the usual results," according to Dr. Buettgenbach. Election laws have been liberally constructed and, "when there has been substantial compliance with the material provisions of the law the courts are reluctant to invalidate the elections," he reported.

AFTER EARNING his bachelor's degree from USC in 1951, Dr. Buettgenbach taught in the Montebello Unified School District three years and then in the Redondo Beach City School District one year before earning his master's degree from California State College at Los Angeles in 1955. He was then a teacher and a vice principal in the Torrance Unified School District and principal of Lincoln Elementary School before becoming assistant principal at North High School. Dr. Buettgenbach lives in Torrance, is married and has three children.

A Penny for your Thoughts

By HAL FISHER
Who or whom? Shall or will? France has its Academy which has established definite rules for French grammar and usage but in American even the grammar in our English textbooks is altered and revised every few years. I asked several Torrance residents: "Do you think we should have a permanent set of rules for American English?"

Pat Oetting, 20925 Avis Ave.: "I think there should be a standard set for English usage. When you keep revising all the time, parts of the language lose their original meaning. Changing of grammatical rules just causes confusion."

Sandra Haas, 3921 W. 186th St.: "Why teach a way of speaking in the schools that is not the same as speech on the outside. I don't mean that we should go back and revise books and plays that were written in the past, people should appreciate these, but the language itself should progress."

Peggy Siminich, 22908 La-deene Ave.: "A set standard or set of rules for American English would fight progress. A set standard wouldn't work, even if it was tried. If you set rules now, ten years from now the language usage would be different."

Joe Wilcox, 22624 Ellinwood Dr.: "To see the value of keeping grammar up to date we can look at any old book. With all due respect for the classics, some of the old traditional are hard to read. They reflect their day and age, and this is good. But to us they seem stilted. With hard and fast rules of grammar, communications could become a problem in the future."

Marjorie Bohn, 4720 Asteria Ave.: "It would be convenient and nice to have a standard however, in America it would be very hard to set up and impossible to keep. There are at present different standards in different parts of the country and in different age and occupation groups. If a standard grammar was set, we would probably deviate away from it after a period of time."

Crusade for Youth Set
A series of special meetings geared to youth, but designed to minister to the entire family will be launched this morning at the Calvary Community Church of Torrance, 1117 Milton St. The meetings will continue nightly through Wednesday. Evangelist Ken Poure of Long Beach, Director of Accent Crusade, Inc., and program director of Hume Lake Conference Association, will be the speaker. Mr. Poure has conducted more than 150 family crusades in his 13 years as a lay preacher. Evening crusade programs will include special music, quizzes, and singing. The service today will be held at 11 a.m.

Ann Landers Says Refined Ladies From Rich Families Write

Ann Landers: We are not calling you Dear Ann Landers because we don't think you are dear. We think you are just rotten. This letter is being written by three 12-year-old women who will never read your crummy column again as long as we live. Your advice to the mother who wrote and asked if her 13-year-old daughter should be allowed to go to a dance with a 16-year-old boy has made you a lot of enemies. Don't you know that some 13-year-old girls are very mature and have a lot of sense? Age isn't everything. My cousin is 16 years old and she has been in trouble with a boy already. I know better than THAT and I won't be 13 until July. We think you should get your brains out of mothballs and catch up with 1965 activities or turn your job over to a person who is living in this century. And just in case you think we are cheap, hoody girls we would like you to know that we are all refined young ladies who come from very rich families. —EX-READERS

Dear Refined Ladies From Rich Families: Since you are no longer reading the column I don't expect you to see this, but perhaps someone will tell you about it. I want to thank you for the ladylike manner in which you expressed yourselves. I could tell from the very first that you girls were the last word in refinement. The advice stands. Dear Ann Landers: I am a widow 47 years old. Four months ago I answered an ad in the newspaper and found heaven. I am now the housekeeper for a widower and his three children. The youngest is under school age and the oldest is 13. I love these children with all my heart and I'm sure they feel the same about me. In all my life I have never felt so needed and so appreciated. The problem is this: I'm afraid I may be falling in love with their father. I've had an opportunity to observe him under a variety of circumstances and he is the most wonderful man I've ever known. Mr. X is two years younger than I am. He treats me with respect and kindness, but I see no sign that his feelings will ever go beyond that. Should I stay here and risk being hurt or should I leave and try to get over this? The man is invited out often but refuses to be "dated up." I need your clear-eyed advice.—NEVER THOUGHT IT COULD HAPPEN

Dear Never Thought: Accept the realities and make a social life unrelated to your employer. If you leave this home you might deprive yourself of the most rewarding years of your life. Stay—for the children's sake as well as your own. Dear Ann Landers: Since lots of people write to you about whatever is on their minds I think I will do the same. I am 13 years old now. When I was younger I used to lose things all the time and I was always looking for something. My grandmother who was a very wise woman, said to me, "I'll bet you'll find it in the very last place that you look." She was right. I'd look everywhere and then in the very last place I looked there it was. Can you explain why it happens that way? I have tried many times to figure out the answer.—POOKIE

Dear Pookie: When you find what you are looking for you stop looking. So—the place you found it was the last place you looked. If excessive drinking is wrecking your health or destroying someone you love send for ANN LANDERS booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. C 1965, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate

Area Workers Are Awarded Service Pins

Eighteen Torrance residents were presented service awards from Mattel, Inc., Hawthorne-based toymaker, at a banquet held at the Airport Marina Hotel.
